HIGHLY QUALIFIED INSTRUCTORS WITH SPECIALISED ELS CERTIFICATION

The friendly, dedicated and experienced teaching team at ELS include local instructors as well as teachers from native English-speaking countries. All ELS teachers are equipped with TESOL or TESL qualifications and are specially trained to teach using the ELS Method through the ELS Teacher Certification Programme (TCP).

CERTIFICATION AND RECOGNITION

At the end of each level of the Certified Intensive English Programme (CIEP), students will complete standardised level completion tests to measure their progress in the 4 main skills of the English language. These tests are conducted at all ELS centres to guarantee and facilitate the promotion of students to the next level or their transfer to another ELS centre.

The ELS Certificate of Completion is accepted as proof of English language proficiency for admissions into over 650 colleges and universities in the ELS network of University Partners. In Malaysia, the Ministry of Higher Education recognises the CIEP Level standards as proof of English language proficiency for university admissions.

UNIVERSITY PLACEMENT

ELS Student Advisers will offer you guidance and assistance in applying to a college or university in the ELS network of University Partners.

Based on your academic goals and background, the Student Advisers will suggest suitable higher education options and help you obtain conditional acceptance into your chosen institution, even before you complete your studies at ELS.

The CEFR is recognised by the Ministry of Higher Education, Malaysia as a language standard and is also used as a benchmark for IELTS and TOEFL®.

In 2016, an analysis of ELS Levels and the CEFR was conducted by Second Language Testing, Inc. (SLTI), a leading language assessment company. In the analysis, SLTI reviewed the ELS level objectives, materials and assessments for all four skills: listening, speaking, reading and writing. Below is a summary of how the ELS Levels correlate to the CEFR, and subsequently IELTS.
